HAZEL GREEN, KY.: WEDNESDAY, MARCH 25, 1885

LOCAL NEWS.

The Powell circuit court began on last Monday.

Mrs. Wm. Hance, of Upper Grass, is suffering with heart disease.

Clarence, eldest son of Col. L. M. Day, is quite ill with pneumonia.

Al. Little of Breathitt was in Hazel Green on Friday, enroute to Mt. Sterling.

D. S. Godsey says he is confident he will be the next representative from this legislative district.

Remember, that one dollar's worth of anything we can use will be received in payment for our paper one year.

Johnnie Davis, of Morgan county, has been stopping with Dr. Taulbee for a few days, receiving medical treatment.

Why would the mayor of Maytown be a hard man to deal with at that office? Because he is more than half mayor in or out of office. See?

Rose Dunnigan, of Beattyville, who has been receiving medical treatment from Dr. J. B. Taulbee for the past week, has returned home.

The men of this place should have the courtesy to extend their aid to Mr. John Evans. We learn that Mrs. Evans had to sit up with him on Monday night.

J. M. Murphy who has been attending Prof. Hayes' school for some three months, was recently expelled to quit school on account of illness.

Remember the lecture at Masonic hall to-night. Mrs. Timmins has some remarkable revelations to make in regard to silver deposits in this county.

Granville Evans, of Campton, was in Hazel Green last week in attendance upon his little son Johnny, who has been suffering with a severe attack of pneumonia.

To our many friends in Hazel Green, who have so kindly assisted us in our efforts in getting out THE HERALD since its inauguration, we return our sincere thanks.

Miss Lullie Phillips, of West Liberty, who has been visiting in Hazel Green for a week past, returned to her home last Sunday, much to the regret of her many friends here.

Geo. Rice, carpenter, formerly of this place is now living near Maytown, in Morgan county. It was another George Rice who got such a fall in Nashville.

Ben. W. S. Maddox, of Red River, in this county, has just returned from a visit to Lexington, whither he had been to see Robt. Lindon, recently sent to the asylum from this place.

A heavy of beauty called in our office one day last week—Misses Susie Godsey, Lullie Phillips, Willie Ladd and Ella Johnson, and Mrs. Nickell and Mrs. Herndon. They admired our furniture very much. Call again, ladies.

At the sale of the personality of the late James Lindon, deceased, last Saturday, the following stock was sold. We append the names of the buyers and the prices obtained. Mrs. Lindon bought all the grain—corn at 60 cents and wheat at $1, and two mules at $215, no one bidding against her; James Lacey of Morgan, 1 yoke cattle at $76.75, one 2-year old heifer at $19, two 2-year old heifers at $23.60; W. H. Vance of Morgan, one yoke cattle at $81.25; Tom Amy's cow at $37.25; G. B. Lykins 1 heifer at $19.30, 1 at $17.55; B. H. Ross, 2 yearling steers at $27.25; G. T. Centers, 1 yoke cattle at $121; Jas. H. Vest, 1 mare at $32.50. The widow bid in one 2-year old horse at $70, 1 yoke 3-year old steers at $70, and one milch cow at $25.

Maytown and Its Prospects.

Maytown is situated on the state road leading to Mt. Sterling, and just six miles from this place. It is surrounded by a live, aggressive set of people. The soil is fertile and very productive, and if the surroundings make a town, we are of the opinion that Maytown will compare favorably with any of her sister towns of the mountains. There are a number of thorough-going business men in the town, prominent among whom may be mentioned E. B. May, R. A. Childers, W. T. Day, J. C. Swango, J. T. Sexton, W. C. Danica, J. E. Hill, Louis Powers and R. Bolin. There are two dry goods stores, one drug store, one blacksmith shop, four carpenter shops, one public hall, one church in course of erection, one large steam saw and flouring mill, one doctor and one minister in the town, Rev. W. L. Stamper, of the M. E. church south. Mr. Stamper is about thirty-one years of age, a gentleman of education, eloquence and elegance combined, and as a minister has few equals and no superiors. We predict that he will ere long be ranked with the great ministers of the state, and be called to labor in some of the large churches. The buildings of Maytown are in the main large and commodious. A spirit of improvement has struck the place, and if the march of progress is as rapid in the next year as it has been in the past, it is destined to become one of the leading towns of Eastern Kentucky. THE HERALD congratulates the people on their prosperity, and will aid them in anything calculated to promote their general welfare, but modestly reminds the business men that if they would secure permanent prosperity, they should place their advertising in its columns at once.

Rowan County's Deputy Sheriff Murdered.

(Sentinel-Democrat.)

The spirit of murder which has been rife in Rowan county since last August election has added another victim to its ghastly train. Stewart Bumgardner, deputy sheriff of Rowan, was foully murdered on the highway two and a half miles west of Elliottsville Monday about 1 p. m. Whether this was done by a foe in ambush or whether it was a face to face encounter is not, and may never be known. The mail carrier first found him lying in the middle of the road with his face downward, and being frightened, passed him not knowing who he was, and reported the fact to the citizens of Morehead. He was next seen by a boy named Brodley, who gave the alarm, and he was carried to the nearest house. It was found that his body was full of holes, having received thirty-two buckshot and one large bullet. This took place on Christy creek near where Col. Z. T. Young received a wound on the 7th inst. Bumgardner was about twenty-three years old and formerly lived in Elliott county.

Frank Salyers Killed in Knott.

(Sentinel-Democrat.)

In Knott county Frank Salyers, one of the best citizens in the county, went out into the yard, and had scarcely got outside of the house when a shot was fired from the dark a few feet from him. The ball entered his right side just above the hip, passing through his bowels. He turned and ran into the house and fell, and died before midnight. When the shot was fired some of the inmates of the house ran out and saw two men running from the place where the shot was fired, but it was so dark they did not recognize them.

The affair is shrouded in mystery, as it is not known that Salyers had any enemies in the world. It is thought that he was mistaken for Talt Hall, who was staying at Salyers' house. He leaves a wife and six children.

Kentucky and the Offices.

(Glasgow Times.)

Mr. Cleveland is under no more obligation to Kentucky—indeed not as much—than to any other democratic state. Saye in a general sense, nothing of his success is due to us. Kentucky was against Mr. Cleveland in the national convention, her great democratic organ was scarcely half hearted in support of his election, and she gave him a reduced majority at the polls. Under the circumstances, no very weighty reasons can be adduced as to why Kentuckians should have any special favors shown them at the hands of the president.

CORRESPONDENCE.

EASTERN KENTUCKY NEWS BY COUNTIES.

Reported by Special Correspondents from All Points in the Mountains.

Morgan County.

MAYTOWN.

Robt. Day, county attorney is in town. R. A. Childers has been sworn in as deputy marshal of the town.

Eustice E. Sweatnam, of West Liberty, has been visiting in town the past week.

Mrs. Bettie Brown, of Montgomery, is visiting her father, Archibald Day, and her brother, W. T. Day.

James C. Swango, of the firm of May & Swango, has purchased a half acre of ground from M. C. Bailey, for which he paid $900. He expects to go into business by himself in the near future. "Jim" will succeed, as he is regarded by his friends as being a thorough going business man.

W. T. Day, marshal of our town, has just returned from Lee and adjoining counties, where he has been hunting down violators of the law. He is proving to be one of the best detectives in the state. His success, in the last few months is unparalleled in ferreting out crime and bringing violators of the law to justice.

Richard Brown was tried to-day in the magistrate's court for breach of the peace, and fined by the jury one dollar and fifteen cents. Brown is under the tongues of bad report, and the crime was one that should have been punished to the full extent of the law. Such verdicts license men to violate the law. We have a good and wholesome law—why not enforce it? With the proper enforcement of the law we will have less riot and bloodshed.

Rev. George W. Noles, colored, appeared before J. P. Sexton, justice of the peace of Morgan county, and procured a writ for Andrew Beckley and Winfield Hendricks, colored, of Virginia, charged with grand larceny. The writ was placed in the hands of Constable Mannin, and with R. A. Childers and W. T. Day as guards, the young bloods were arrested at Mt. Sterling, and they were forthwith returned to this place, where they had an examining trial before Squire Sexton and E. B. May, mayor of the town. Robt. Day represented the commonwealth and faithfully performed his duty. After a fair and impartial trial, the negroes were found guilty and their bonds fixed at $300 each, in default of which they were sent to the Morgan county jail for safe keeping.

ROTHWELL.

Mrs. A. J. Ringo is on the sick list.

We need a postoffice at Rothwell. The people here like THE HERALD O. K., and don't you forget it.

Several of our young bloods were respectfully solicited to attend circuit court at Frenchburg last week.

News items at Rothwell, for the past few days, are "like hen's teeth, few and far between." However, we will try and gather a few each week hereafter.

Thos. A. Combs, our clever assistant postmaster at Cornwell, while postmarking a letter one day last week, struck his finger with the stamp. Didn't kill him.

B. F. McCormick, formerly of Thomasville, Ga., was here last week. Ben will move back to Mt. Sterling this spring, and engage in the lumber business again.

Breathitt County.

FROZEN CREEK.

The cold weather will make corn very scarce in this section.

The log men here are very busy getting ready for the next tide. There will be a great many rafts to go out.

James Hargis sold to C. L. Terril one mule and two yoke of cattle for $308.

Thomas Sewell, of Jackson, has moved to a farm near the mouth of this creek, on the Kentucky river. We are glad to have good and well-to-do men move into our community.

Mrs. N. B. Day has been sick for some time, and we are sorry to say she is not improving very fast.

W. B. Banister, of W. Va., spent a night with us this week. Mr. Banister represents a large coal company in W. Va., and is in this country looking after coal. He examined a coal bank belonging to J. C. M. Day, and said it was the finest he had found in this state for coking purposes.

The farmers are quite backward about their work in this country.

Green Ward will finish Day Bros. new store house by the first of May. He is a good carpenter, and does honest work. He is going to remove to Hazel Green in a few days.

THE HERALD is a very welcome visitor here. Everybody is well pleased with its foundation, &c.

Powell County.

MERRILL.

The farmers have begun breaking up their soil land.

Died—On the 11th inst., Mrs. John J. Conley, of brain fever. She was one of our most highly esteemed citizens.

Bush & Rice have thirteen rafts to go out on the first tide.

John H. Cole has moved to the farm he bought on Miller's creek.

Success to THE HERALD, and long may it live.

OUR JACKSON LETTER.

JACKSON, KY., March 19th, 1885.

Editor of THE HAZEL GREEN HERALD:

The town of Jackson, the county seat of Breathitt county, has a population of about 175 souls. It is beautifully located on the north fork of the Kentucky river, and about 200 feet above its level.

The river runs within about 150 yards of the court house. The history of this town, as heretofore given by newspaper correspondents, is still fresh in the minds of the people of the state, especially the mountainous section, on account of its notoriety for bloodshed, riots and breaches of the penal laws. These writers have no doubt, in a few instances, told the truth, but "Bloody Breathitt," (which was their favorite name for her), never was as bad as represented. It is true there have been several feuds in our county in which some men were snatched from this earth and sent to try the realities of another world. This was while our people were in the hands of Satan; but, praise the Lord, the people of this town and county are to-day able to shout "hallelujah" over the reverse of things. God is now ruling supreme, and Satan has taken a back seat. We have now, instead of pistols, guns, cards and whiskey, prayer-meetings carried on in nearly every house in town, Sunday-school every Sunday, young men's Christian association every Sunday evening, prayer-meeting Sunday nights, preaching from two to three times a month, boys' prayer-meeting every Wednesday night, and a literary society every Friday night.

The high school at this place, conducted by Prof. John Jay Dickey and Miss Cattie Little is still flourishing. Miss Little has taken upon herself the labors of Miss Rose K. Richards, in the school room, who recently left for her home in Stanford, Ky., where she expects to remain. The people here were greatly grieved to have Miss Richards give up her great and good work among us. Still they rejoice that she has left behind her one of "Jackson's fair daughters," who is able, willing, and qualified to take her place. Miss Little is having a delightful time with her music class.

Prof. Dickey, principal of the high school, is a powerful instrument in God's hands. This good man has done more for the edification of the people of this county, than any man ever in it, and still he works and never tires. As I write, I can hear next door to me, some of our young men who have recently been converted to God, sending their petitions to the throne of grace—"Praise the Lord for it."

We are having a great deal of sickness, but as God is always blessing us, he has blessed us with good physicians. Dr. Schell has moved to some of the lower counties, probably Estill. Dr. W. T. Wilson has gone to Louisville on professional business, and will not return for a few days. Dr. J. B. Taulbee regrets very much that the doctors have all gone, as their absence increases his dose.

In conclusion, I must say that I am exceedingly proud of the opportunity of writing for a paper near home. May THE HAZEL GREEN HERALD ever prosper and redound to the good of the people of the mountains, and may its editor live long to enjoy the fruits of his labor in this good work, and ever find a home with us in these grand mountains, and enjoy the hospitality of our people. All who have not subscribed for THE HERALD should do so without delay.

I am, until next time, your humble servant,

E. B. C.

The Herald Complimented.

Mt. Sterling Gazette: THE HAZEL GREEN HERALD came to hand last week, neat as a new pin, and alive with news. The people of that section can support a good paper; if they try, and Spencer Cooper will give them just such a one, if properly encouraged. He is a newspaper man of experience and ability, and we trust his venture will prove a success. THE HERALD is independent in politics, and will labor for the people of Eastern Kentucky, irrespective of party.

Venueburg Courier: THE HAZEL GREEN HERALD is the title of a sprightly weekly coming to us from Wolfe county, this state. THE HERALD is well filled with interesting reading matter from the mountain counties, and if properly appreciated and supported by the people of that section, will prove a valuable auxiliary in the work of development and progress, now going on in the eastern section of the state.

Covington Commonwealth: THE HERALD is the name of a newspaper just started at Hazel Green, Wolfe county, Ky. THE HERALD is published in that section of Kentucky which is on the eve of moral and physical development, and it is just the kind of a paper needed to give impetus to a movement so full of promise. We wish THE HERALD the greatest success.

Frankfort Yeoman: A disappointed applicant for office has, by hard labor, succeeded in Manning a piratical craft, and will now pitch into the government, and lament if he can. His feelings are Vilas the devil, and he has no Garland to throw about the neck of the president. His hopes are all blighted, and he don't care a Whiff if he does not have in the Endicott to sleep upon.

Insurance, in order to be reliable, must be guaranteed by successful and well-known corporations; the policies of doubtful or experimental companies being dear at any price. The best policies are always the cheapest. Insurers should select their companies as they would a banker, or a person who is to hold their funds in trust. Look to quality as the paramount consideration of insurance. Respectfully,
